
CASE #EHS-0342: THE VANISHED POT
Eastlake Assassins ended two weeks ago. Nobody got paid. This is what we know.
STATUS: OPEN
Started looking into this the day the account went dark. Talked to [redacted] first, didn't get much. Everyone's got a theory about who's behind it but nobody's got proof.
Found five things worth logging so far. Didn't get through all of them before I got pulled off the case, ran out of [redacted].
If you're reading this, you're picking up where I left off. Scan the code, it starts the clock the second you do. Find what I found, faster than I did. Log all five and it'll tell you your time.
Whoever closes this case fastest gets their name on the board. Mine should've been there. Yours can be.
– Det. [redacted]
[redacted] still think it's someone in ASB... they'd know how to keep something like this quiet. [redacted]

I'm just saying — who else would know how to run a whole account and stay that quiet about it? Someone in ASB guaranteed.

ROLE: Participant, disputed payment
CLAIM: Claims buy-in was paid in full ($50)
SUSPICIOUS: Screenshot (Evidence #04) shows a different amount than claimed

I paid. I have the receipt. I don't know what else they want from me.

They never even sent proof. Just a text saying I was out. Everyone in the group chat saw the same thing happen to like three other people.

I got further than almost anyone. If the pot's still out there, I'd like to know where.
